Information Resources: We All Need Trees

You will want to learn all you can about the importance of trees in your daily life. As you research trees, you will learn that through photosynthesis, trees convert carbon dioxide (CO₂) into the oxygen (O₂) that we breathe in. You will also learn that there are multiple threats to trees. Providing accurate information is essential. Find out what trees grow in your area, and see what your community is doing to help them. You will find a variety of opinions from a variety of sources about how to best care for our trees.

You can find resources at your school or public library, science books, local newspapers, nature centers and from the NACD website (www.nacdnet.org) in the Stewardship & Education section. Get guidance from your teacher or parents to find information on the Internet about trees and you.

DID YOU KNOW.....

- ◆ 100 trees remove 53 tons of carbon dioxide and 430 pounds of other air pollutants per year.
- ◆ One hundred mature trees catch about 139,000 gallons of rainwater per year.
- ◆ Trees not only provide us with oxygen to breathe, shade on a sunny day, or food products like fruits and nuts, but they are also used to make many of the products we use every day.
- ◆ Tree roots stabilize the soil and prevent erosion.
- ◆ Trees improve water quality by slowing and filtering rain water as well as protect aquifers and watersheds.
- ◆ Trees filter our air supply and keep it fresh.
- ◆ Trees are a major player in removing CO₂ from the air when they perform photosynthesis. They store the carbon in all parts of the tree.

Red Oak
NJ State Tree

NJ Soil Conservation Districts (SCD) are special purpose subdivisions of the State. In cooperation with the State Soil Conservation Committee, they are empowered to conserve and manage soil and water resources and address stormwater, soil erosion and sedimentation problems that result from land disturbance activities. There are 15 Soil Conservation Districts in New Jersey. (See back page for list.)

In response to growing public concern for water quality, NJ conservation districts have become the primary local governmental agencies responsible for monitoring nonpoint sources of pollution associated with agriculture, construction and mining. The technical services of the USDA — Natural Resources Conservation Service and other resource agencies are made available through the districts.
