WHEREAS, on May 15, 2012, the Morris CADB advised Ms. Simone that due to a conflict of interest, the Morris CADB would not be developing a SSAMP for her apiary operation and would request assistance from the SADC with respect to the application (B-1); and

WHEREAS, on May 21, 2012, the Morris CADB advised the SADC that due to a conflict of interest, the Morris CADB would not be developing a SSAMP for Ms. Simone's apiary operation and requested the SADC's assistance with respect to the application (B-2); and

WHEREAS, during the April 11, 2013 meeting, the Morris CADB reviewed exhibit A-1 through A-7, A-10, B-13, B-14, C-2 and C-3, as well as a presentation by Ms. Simone and Mr. Frank; and

WHEREAS, the minutes of the March 14, 2013 Morris CADB meeting were compiled by Morris CADB staff (B-15); and

WHEREAS, the minutes of the April 11, 2013 Morris CADB meeting were compiled by Morris CADB staff (B-16); and

WHEREAS, during the May 9, 2013 meeting, after having considered the presentations submitted by Ms. Simone and Mr. Frank on March 14, 2013 and April 11, 2013, and exhibits A-1 through A-10, B-1 through B-16, and C-1 through C-3, the Morris CADB made the following determinations:

1. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.3(b), Right to Farm Rules in place at the time of Ms. Simone's application, upon the receipt of a request for a SSAMP, the Morris CADB must determine whether the agricultural operation is a commercial farm as defined at N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.1 and N.J.S.A. 4:1C-3.
2. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.1 and N.J.S.A. 4:1C-3, "commercial farm" means (1) a farm management unit of no less than five acres producing agricultural or horticultural products worth

$2,500 or more annually, and satisfying the eligibility criteria for differential property taxation pursuant to the "Farmland Assessment Act of 1964," P.L.1964, c.48 (C.54:4-23.1 et seq.), or (2) a farm management unit less than five acres, producing agricultural or horticultural products worth $50,000 or more annually and otherwise satisfying the eligibility criteria for differential property taxation pursuant to the "Farmland Assessment Act of 1964," P.L.1964, c.48 (C.54:4-23.1 et seq.).

3. Pursuant to N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.1 and N.J.S.A. 4:1C-3, "farm management unit" means a parcel or parcels of land, whether contiguous or noncontiguous, together with agricultural or horticultural buildings, structures and facilities, producing agricultural or horticultural products, and operated as a single enterprise; and

4. Ms. Simone was the owner and operator of Gooserock Farm, an apiary operation. The operation consisted of 10 parcels, which total 0.25211 acres. Seven of the parcels were located in Montville Township and three were located in Boonton Township.

5. Because Ms. Simone's apiary/farm management unit consisted of less than 5 acres, in order to meet the Right to Farm Act's definition of a "commercial farm," it must have produced agricultural or horticultural products worth $50,000 or more annually and must have otherwise satisfied the eligibility criteria for differential property taxation pursuant to the "Farmland Assessment Act of 1964," P.L.1964, c.48 (C.54:4-23.1 et seq.).

The SADC's February 23, 2012 final decision in the case of Tibor Sipos and Cecily Gentles vs. the Hunterdon CADB (OAL DKT. NO.: ADC 5173-11; AGENCY REF. NO.: SADC #1272) ("Sipos case") provided a clarification regarding the Right to Farm Act's eligibility requirements for farm management units consisting of less than 5 acres. Pursuant to the SADC's decision, a farm management unit, which consists of less than 5 acres must meet the following requirements in order to qualify for the protections of the Right to Farm Act as a commercial farm:

- a) the farm management unit, as a whole, must produce at least $50,000 of agricultural or horticultural products per year; and
- b) each individual parcel within the farm management unit must comply with all Farmland Assessment Act requirements (except for the minimum parcel size) – it is actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use, and has been so devoted for at least 2 successive years immediately preceding the tax year in question.

According to Exhibit A-9, as of May 9, 2013 the following two parcels within Ms. Simone's farm management unit did not meet the eligibility requirements of the Right to Farm Act:

- 1) Three J's: parcel was not eligible because it had not been actively operated for the last 2 years; and
- 2) Ford: parcel was not eligible because it had not been actively operated for the last 2 years.

Since each parcel of the farm management unit must satisfy the criteria established in 4b) above, then a parcel that does not satisfy these criteria cannot be considered part of the farm management unit. Accordingly, since the Three J's and Ford parcels did not meet the eligibility requirements of the Right to Farm Act, they could not be considered part of Ms. Simone's farm management unit.

6. Mr. Frank's April 8, 2013 letter brief (A-2) stated that notwithstanding the fact that Ms. Simone had not actively operated the Ford parcel as part of her apiary farm management unit for the last 2 successive years, he believed that the parcel was eligible for Right to Farm as part of Ms. Simone's farm management unit because:

- a) Ms. Simone's bees were on the parcel in 2009 and prior; and
- b) the Ford parcel (owned by William and Marjorie Ford) was Farmland Assessed.

The Right to Farm Act and the Sipos case did not support Mr. Frank's argument. Specifically, the Right to Farm Act's definition of a "commercial farm" refers to individual "farm management units." Therefore, the Act requires the CADB to make a determination whether an applicant's farm management unit, evaluated individually, meets the definition of a "commercial farm". It is irrelevant whether the Ford's farm management unit meets the standards of the Act. The sole question was whether Ms. Simone's farm management unit met the standards of the Act. Ms. Simone never claimed that her operation and the Ford operation were part to the same farm management unit. In a letter dated March 22, 2013 from Mr. Frank to the Morris CADB (A-10), Mr. Frank specifically stated that the Ford operation and the Simone operation operated as separate farm management units.

Ms. Simone operated her apiary on 525 square feet (0.01205 acres) of the Ford property. Her operation on the Ford parcel began in 2012. While Ms. Simone operated her apiary on this parcel in 2009 and prior, she did not operate it in 2010 and 2011. Accordingly, as of May 9, 2013 she had not actively operated the parcel as part of her apiary farm management unit for the last 2 successive years. Therefore, the Ford parcel failed to satisfy the statutory requirements of the Right to Farm Act and could not be considered part of Ms. Simone's farm management unit.

In his April 8, 2013 letter brief (A-2), Mr. Frank asserted that since William and Marjorie Ford's farm management unit was eligible for Right to Farm due to its eligibility for Farmland Assessment and the value of agricultural products produced by the Fords, the Ford lot was eligible for Right to Farm as part of Ms. Simone's farm management unit.

The Right to Farm Act and the Sipos case did not support Mr. Frank's argument. Specifically, the definition of a "commercial farm" and thus the eligibility for Right to Farm is based and depends on the "farm management unit". Whether a farm management unit meets the definition of a "commercial farm" is related to the value of agricultural products produced by that individual farm management unit and that individual farm management unit's eligibility for Farmland Assessment. It cannot be based on another farm management unit's commercial farm status. Whether William and Marjorie Ford's farm management unit qualified was irrelevant since it was not part of the Simone farm management unit.

7. To determine whether a farm management unit meets the definition of a “commercial farm,” the production value from eligible parcels is added together and if it totals at least $50,000, then the farm management unit meets the definition of a “commercial farm”. Since as of May 9, 2013 the Three J’s and Ford parcels did not meet the eligibility requirements of the Right to Farm Act and could not be considered part of Ms. Simone’s farm management unit, their production value could not be used to determine whether the farm management unit met the definition of a “commercial farm”.

8. According to Exhibit A-5, in 2012 Ms. Simone sold the following items: propolis, equipment, gift items (gift wrap, velvet bag, fabric gift), honey, cosmetics (e.g. lotion, soap, lip balm, hand cream, mouse, etc.), eggs, beeswax items (e.g. candles), and bees.

However, the Right to Farm Act distinguishes between the sales of the “agricultural or horticultural products” of the farm (which are eligible for the purpose of determining whether a farm is a “commercial farm”) and the sales of the “agricultural output” of the farm (and the Right to Farm Act’s protections for farm markets). The Right to Farm Act’s definition of “commercial farm” refers to “agricultural or horticultural products” while the definition of “farm market” refers to “agricultural output.”

The Right to Farm Act at N.J.S.A. 4:1C-9 lists activities, which are protected by the Act. The first two activities listed are:

- a) Produce agricultural and horticultural crops, trees and forest products, livestock, and poultry and other commodities as described in the Standard Industrial Classification for agriculture, forestry, fishing and trapping or, after the operative date of the regulations adopted pursuant to section 5 of P.L.2003, c.157 (C.4:1C-9.1), included under the corresponding classification under the North American Industry Classification System;
- b) Process and package the agricultural output of the commercial farm.

Section a) refers to the production of agricultural and horticultural commodities “as described in the Standard Industrial Classification for agriculture, forestry, fishing and trapping” or “included under the corresponding classification under the North American Industry Classification System.” While apiaries and bee farms (and bee products) are part of the Agriculture, Forestry, and Fishing division, candles and cosmetics (such as creams and lotions) are not.

While the Right to Farm Act protects both production and processing, they are listed separately.

With respect to bee products, the value of honey, pollen, beeswax or bees is considered to be the value of the “agricultural products” of the farm. Income from the sales of cosmetics (lotion, soap, lip balm, etc.) and beeswax candles is considered to be income earned from the sales of the “agricultural output” (items that have been processed for sale). Since the definition of “commercial farm” refers to the value of “agricultural or horticultural products”, only the value of the agricultural products produced on the farm (honey, pollen, beeswax or bees) can count towards the Right to Farm income requirement. The value added through processing, which is adding other ingredients including labor, energy, and packaging, to create candles or cosmetics is not the value of the agricultural product and cannot be included. To establish “commercial farm” eligibility, income is calculated based on the value of bee products (honey, pollen, beeswax, etc.) harvested from the apiary before they are processed to make candles and cosmetics (soaps, lotions, etc.).

9. According to Exhibit B-11, the eligible 2012 income generated by Ms. Simone’s farm management unit totaled $46,201.

10. Since the annual income generated by Ms. Simone’s farm management unit did not total $50,000, as of May 9, 2013 the operation did not meet the Right to Farm Act’s definition of a “commercial farm”.

The Morris CADB also made the following determinations:

1. The Morris CADB found that as of May 9, 2013 Gooserock Farm was not a “commercial farm” as defined by the Right to Farm Act, N.J.S.A. 4:1C-9, et seq. and the SADC’s Right to Farm Rules, N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.1, et seq.

2. Since Gooserock Farm was not a “commercial farm”, it did not meet the eligibility criteria of the Right to Farm Act and was not entitled to the protection of the Right to Farm Act, and the Morris CADB lacked jurisdiction over the operation. The Morris CADB was unable to pursue Ms. Simone’s application for a SSAMP. All activities occurring as part of the Gooserock Farm operation were outside the purview of the Morris CADB and remained under the jurisdiction of applicable municipal, state or federal agencies.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, the Morris CADB makes the following determinations:

1. Ms. Simone is the owner and operator of Gooserock Farm, an apiary operation. The operation consists of 10 parcels, which total 0.25211 acres. Seven of the parcels are located in Montville Township and three are located in Boonton Township.
2. Because Ms. Simone’s apiary/farm management unit consists of less than 5 acres, in order to meet the Right to Farm Act’s definition of a “commercial farm,” it must produce agricultural or horticultural products worth $50,000 or more annually and must otherwise satisfy the eligibility criteria for differential property taxation pursuant to the "Farmland Assessment Act of 1964," P.L.1964, c.48 (C.54:4-23.1 et seq.).
3. According to Exhibit A-14 and A-16, all parcels within Ms. Simone’s farm management unit are actively devoted to agricultural use and have been so devoted for at least two successive years.
5. According to Exhibit A-15 and A-16, the eligible 2014 income generated by Ms. Simone’s farm management unit totaled $65,167.
6. Gooserock Farm is now deemed a “commercial farm” as defined by the Right to Farm Act, N.J.S.A. 4:1C-9, et seq. and the SADC’s Right to Farm Rules, N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.1, et seq.; and
7. Gooserock Farm now meets the eligibility criteria of the Right to Farm Act; and
8. As previously determined by the Morris CADB by way of Resolution 2013-07 and reaffirmed through the subject updated SSAMP application submitted by Ms. Simone:

- Gooserock Farm’s operation on the “Ford parcel” is in compliance with the Apiary Agricultural Management Practice, N.J.A.C. 2:76-2A.2; and
- Gooserock Farm’s operation on the “Ford parcel” does not pose a direct threat to public health and safety; and
- Gooserock Farm’s electric bear fence on the “Ford parcel” is in compliance with generally accepted management standards for electric bear fencing; and
- Gooserock Farm’s electric bear fence on the “Ford parcel” does not pose a direct threat to public health and safety.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that pursuant to N.J.A.C. 2:76-2.3(l), within 30 days of its adoption, copies of this resolution will be forwarded to the following individuals and agencies:
