Cav holds Freedom Salute for Soldiers

More than 70 Soldiers of Troop C 5-117th Cavalry were honored last weekend during a Freedom Salute ceremony at the Westfield Armory. Family and friends joined NJNG leadership in showing appreciation for the unit's successful return from an extended tour of duty in Iraq. The extended deployment of 15 months in a combat theater was part of Operation Iraqi Freedom. Family members of the Soldiers and Family Support Group personnel were also recognized for their support on the homefront during the lengthy separation. A solemn highlight to the ceremony was the retirement of the Troop's historical guidon. The unit has been re-designated as the 102nd Reconnaissance, Surveillance, Target Acquisition.

Send Highlights your happenings

We want your stuff!! Is your unit doing some unique training? Did someone in the New Jersey Guard receive accolades for accomplishing something extra special? Is your unit running a special event for the community? Does your section of DMAVA have something they need to tell the rest of the department? We want to know about it.

Send us a short piece on what is happening so we can publish it in DMAVA Highlights. Let us know who wrote it so we can give them credit. If there are photos, you can send those too. While we do not publish photos in Highlights, we can give them to the editor of Guardlife and they may be used in that publication.

When you send in your article:

- Identify all people in the article with rank, first and last names and job title or position.
- Spell out all acronyms.
- When it comes to equipment, do not just give the nomenclature, also include the "name" of the equipment. Do not use M998 alone, HMMWV is also needed.
- Give us as much as possible of the meat of the story – who, what, when, where, why and how concerning the event.
- Photos need identification of people in the photo and what is happening in the photo.

Deadline for each week is noon Thursday and should be e-mailed to Barbara.harbison@njdmava.state.nj.us. We do not publish flyers or Adobe files. If a Web site is out there to give people more information or to get a registration form, put that in your article.

Don't be intimidated by writing, we edit it for understanding and grammar. Your article may look a different when it is published as we also edit to fit the standards of the AP Style Guide.

New training program coming for state employees

Recently, Rolando Torres, Commissioner for the New Jersey Department of Personnel, announced new innovations in training for state employees. Due to the nature of the fiscal climate over the past several years, state government's central training agency – the Human Resource Development Institute (HRDI) – has engaged in a thorough review of employee training and workforce development in N.J. government. In the wake of that evaluation, there have been a number of new developments in the realm of training.

In the very near future, DOP will begin rolling out the New Jersey Enterprise-wide Learning Management System (NJ ELMS). By providing a common, web-based platform for scheduling, tracking, billing, and delivering training, NJ ELMS will be a transformative tool for the state's workforce. It will better align training with the governor's vision for New Jersey and will help ensure that employees are given ample opportunity to develop new skills. However, NJ ELMS and online learning will by no means replace traditional HRDI classroom training. The highly acclaimed Certified Public Manager and Support Specialist Program will continue to run as they always have and HRDI will be offering more than 100 open enrollment classes during the period from July-December 2007. For more information on courses available through HRDI, please visit www.njtrainer.com or call 609-777-2225.

Hispanic Heritage Month Sept. 15 - Oct. 15

As we celebrate another week of Hispanic Heritage Month we continue to recognize major accomplishments and Hispanic contributions to military service. This week we are recognizing profiles in history.

Throughout the nation's history Hispanic-American Soldiers have established themselves as role models for generations to follow. From the first Hispanic-American Presidential Medal of Freedom recipient to momentous contributions to military tactics, Hispanic Americans have made their mark within the history of this nation with their courage, leadership and honor.

Alfred Rascon: Born in Chihuahua, Mexico, Alfred Rascon has lived a life that succeeded above and beyond what anyone would have thought, and he contributes that success to the Army.

By age 21, then Specialist Rascon was serving in Vietnam when his unit was attacked by North Vietnamese troops. Despite being wounded, Rascon repeatedly ran into the line of fire to tend to the wounded Soldiers. Rascon's heroism that day inspired his battalion to recommend him for the Medal of Honor, a recommendation that was lost in Pentagon paperwork for more than 30 years. Following Vietnam, Rascon returned to school earning a college degree. In 1969, he applied for Officer Candidate School and earned a commission as an Infantry Officer. He graduated from the Special Forces Qualification course and the Defense Language Institute. Rascon then received orders transferring him to the Military Intelligence Branch. After leaving the Army in 1984, Rascon continued serving his country for several years, by holding various positions within the Justice Department, the Drug Enforcement Agency, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service. He later served as the Director of the Selective Service Administration. Recently, Rascon gave up his high-level government position to return to the Army on Active Duty. He visited both Afghanistan and Iraq motivating and supporting soldiers in the field.

Richard E. Cavazos: In 1982, Hispanic-American Richard E. Cavazos made military history by being appointed the Army's first Hispanic-American four-star general.

Hector P. Garcia: Hector P. Garcia was the first Hispanic American to receive the Presidential Medal of Freedom. President Ronald Regan presented the highest award a civilian can receive to Garcia for his service to his people and the United States with the forming of the American GI Forum.

Elwood R. Quesada: Elwood R. Quesada helped with the pioneering of military aviation techniques that changed the face of combat. His work contributed to techniques used today such as air-to-air refueling and air-to-ground machine gunnery.

Hire a Hero Program Can Link Guardsmen with Jobs

From NGAUS Notes, Sept. 21, 2007

A new Internet site, www.hireahero.org, is helping connect traditional National Guardsmen and veterans with military-friendly employers.

"It's a site best described as where 'My Space' meets 'Monster.com' for the military community," said Dan Caulfield, executive director of Hire a Hero, the nonprofit organization that operates the site.

The site is designed to match companies searching for employees with military qualities and skills with job seekers.

More than 600 businesses have participated, and more than 180,000 individuals have registered at the site, he said.

The site also allows those in the military community to expand their networking abilities, especially in the soldiers' and airmen's home communities.

"When someone comes back from a military deployment, they want to go back to work

"The networking features of Hire a Hero allow the soldier or airmen to talk to more people in their area."

Caulfield stressed that networking is an important aspect of a job search, with success rates for job seekers increasing dramatically with increased networking.

He said a recent internal www.hireahero.org survey revealed that jobs seekers who networked with more than six site users had a more than 30 percent success rate.

"We know that the more people you talk to as you look for a job the better your chances of finding a good job," Caulfield said. "We want to get you connected with people local to where you want to work."

Civil War statue dedication, Sept. 29

On September 29, the General Phil Kearny Memorial Committee will be dedicating a restored 1888 statue of a Civil War Infantryman which originally stood (1888-1933) in front of the New Jersey Home for Civil War Veterans.

This statue was located for many years at CSMS-B West Orange before the TAG and Chief of staff authorized its removal and restoration. It is now completed and ready for its unveiling.

In the decades that followed the Civil War, thousands of New Jersey veterans lived their final years at the "Old Soldiers' Home" located in Kearny. For nearly fifty years, a six-foot tall statue of a Union Infantryman stood guard at the entrance of the home until the home was closed in 1933. The barracks were torn down, cannon rolled away and the silent sentinel statue was removed from his post, and somehow severely damaged, eventually placed in storage and forgotten.

Recently discovered by the members of the General Phil Kearny Memorial Committee, the group raised nearly $35,000 to have this statue restored to its former glory. The bronze soldier will be placed near where he originally stood; a seven-ton boulder from the Gettysburg Battlefield will serve as a pedestal.

The ceremony will take place at 314 Belgrove Drive, Kearny, N.J. at 1 p.m. The site of the New Jersey Home for Disabled Civil War Soldiers and Sailors, and the present location of the American Legion Hall.

The committee would especially like to invite all Civil War reenactors and history buffs to this event. They ask that reenactors please register (no fee), as the committee plans to issue a dedication ribbon to all registered participants.

Re-enactors should contact: Bill Style at w.style@att.net or the Gen. Phil Kearny Memorial Committee PO Box 483 Kearny, NJ 07032, 201-991-8749.

Tax information for military members who have deployed

From the Military Officers Association of America

Military pay received while deployed in a combat zone or other qualifying hazardous duty area is tax-free. But what specific rules apply? Here's a quick refresher course, which summarizes how you can take advantage of these savings opportunities.

All pay received (including base pay, special pays, and bonuses) is income tax-free up to the maximum enlisted pay rate of $6,381.90 per month, plus imminent danger pay.

free. Be aware, however, if a reenlistment bonus is taken in installment payments instead of a lump-sum, installment payments received after leaving the combat zone are not tax-free.

Thrift Saving Plan (TSP) contributions made while in a combat zone are not taxed on withdrawal or distribution.

Due to the Heroes Earned Retirement Opportunities (HERO) Act of 2006, servicemembers who were deployed in a combat zone or other qualifying hazardous duty area have up until May 28, 2009, to make IRA contributions for tax years 2004 and 2005. If the servicemember qualifies for a deductible traditional IRA, this can result in a tax refund for contributions made. For those under 50, the IRA contribution limits are $3,000 for 2004 and $4,000 for 2005. For those over 50, the limits are $3,500 and $4,500, respectively. You will need to file Form 1040X, Amended Tax Return, to claim any benefit. For more information, visit www.irs.gov/newsroom/article/0..id=161175.00.html.
