Governor Murphy, CSC, other State Departments and Agencies Celebrate National Public Service Recognition Week

TRENTON – May 2, 2021 through May 8, 2021 is National Public Service Recognition Week, and many New Jersey State Departments and Agencies are thrilled to recognize the hard work of public servants across the Garden State.

In his proclamation signed on April 19, 2021, Governor Phil Murphy stated, “public servants include teachers, doctors, scientists, train conductors, astronauts, nurses, safety inspectors, laborers, computer technicians, social workers and countless other occupations, who provide diverse services expected by the American people with efficiency and integrity.”

During National Public Service Recognition week, the State usually celebrates State Employee Recognition Day with a ceremony at the Trenton War Memorial. However, due to the pandemic, this year’s ceremony has been canceled. Instead, each Department and Agency will individually celebrate the occasion within their organizations.

“This year, along with other departments and agencies, CSC will recognize state employees for their commitment to public service and the residents of New Jersey. We are excited to share a special edition of the CSC Chronicles, our internal employee newsletter, dedicated to our agency’s employees and their contributions,” said Deirdré L. Webster Cobb, Esq., Chair and Chief Executive Officer of the New Jersey Civil Service Commission. “It is important to highlight our employees, and all public servants, and let them know how much they are appreciated for the hard work they do.”
