TABLE OF CONTENTS

NOVEMBER 2012 CONSTRUCTION HIGHLIGHTS

- Hurricane Sandy's effects on New Jersey's construction industry will appear over many months.

- One early impact was a sharp drop in activity the first month after the storm.

- Construction offices for 559 of New Jersey's 566 municipalities issued nearly 32,000 building permits in November for work on new buildings and additions or alterations to existing ones.

- The estimated cost of this work was $735.3 million. This was 21.1 percent less than the $931.5 million last month--one of the sharpest declines in over three years.

Estimated Cost of Work Authorized by Permits, by Month
- The number of new homes also dropped sharply compared to last month. Construction officials issued building permits for 864 new dwellings in November. This was 33.4 percent less than the 1,298 reported last month. Only once in the last three years was there a sharper drop in monthly production.

- Jersey City had the most work in November, $31.8 million. More than half ($16.1 million) was for a new, 113,000-square foot building for Hudson County Community College.

- The City of Camden's construction office issued building permits authorizing $31.4 million of activity in November. Nearly all of this was for a mixed-use redevelopment project with office space, day care, and other community services.

- Nearly all the $20.7 million of work in Glassboro (Gloucester County) was from new development for Rowan University.

Year to Date

- Despite the sharp downturn in November, major construction indicators for 2012 are at or significantly higher than last year.

- The dollar amount of work between January and November 2012 was $10.2 billion. This is about the same as last year at this time.

- New home construction is considerably higher. 13,840 new houses were authorized through November. This already exceeds last year's level by almost 2,000 units and only includes 11 months of activity.

- Just over 7 million square feet of new office space was authorized between January and November. This is more than 2 million square feet more than last year, a 51.4 percent increase. New retail space also increased, but at a more modest rate (30.9 percent).

- Jersey City had the most work between January and November, $368.9 million. New housing accounted for much of this. Jersey City's construction office issued building permits for 607 new dwellings through November. Only Fort Lee in Bergen County had more, (788 units).

- Newark had $272.4 million through November, ranking second among municipalities. Newark had 266 authorized dwellings through November. Only ten other localities had more. Some of the bigger projects underway in 2012 were from major expansions on the Newark campus of Rutgers University and the New Jersey Institute of Technology. One of the other bigger developments was for a new office building for Panasonic electronics.

- Hanover Township (Morris County) ranks third with $146.4 million of construction between January and November 2012. More than $100 million of this total was for alterations of the former Bell Laboratories office complex. The new facilities will serve as the eastern headquarters of Bayer Pharmaceuticals.

- A total of $307.8 million was authorized for "State Buildings."   These building permits are issued to New Jersey State government agencies or special-purpose agencies.   Much of this is improvements by public colleges and universities. Some of the bigger developments were on the main campus of Rutgers University, Kean University, and Rowan University.

THE NEW JERSEY CONSTRUCTION REPORTER contains statistics on construction activity in New Jersey. Information in the report comes from construction officials who administer the State Uniform Construction Code (UCC) (N.J.A.C. 5:23-1 et seq.) in New Jersey's 566 municipalities.

Each month, construction officials send to the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs (DCA) reports on the permits and certificates they issue. Permits authorize the start of construction and cover four types of activity: (1) New construction permits authorize the start of a new structure. (2) Permits for additions refer to work that will add space (volume and square feet) to an existing building. (3) Alterations also involve existing structures, but the work authorized will not add space. Typically, construction officials issue permits for alterations when the work is subject to one or more of the UCC's major subcodes (building, electrical, plumbing, fire protection). (4) Demolition permits authorize the removal of a building or some other structure. The CONSTRUCTION REPORTER identifies only those demolitions that will result in the loss of housing.

In addition to permits, the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER has information on the certificates issued by construction officials. While permits authorize the start of construction, certificates are issued for work completed and ready for occupancy. Each month, the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER will report on the number of housing units and the amount of office and retail space authorized for construction, along with the number of housing units and the amount of office and retail space completed.

Data Comparability

The CONSTRUCTION REPORTER contains information on authorized housing units that is tabulated two different ways. The DCA tabulates Tables 1 through 3 and Tables 8 through 13 based on the use of buildings, defined in "groups" by New Jersey's UCC. Exhibit B on page 3 summarizes these groups.

Tables 4, 5, and 6 show authorized housing units as defined and tabulated by the United States Census Bureau. The New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development prepares these tables for publication in the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER. Exhibit C on page 4 describes the housing definitions used by the Census Bureau.

The DCA series and the Census Bureau series on authorized housing units differ two important ways. First, the DCA series includes housing units created as a result of permits issued to alter or make additions to existing structures. The Census Bureau counts only those housing units authorized from permits issued for new construction.

Second, the Census Bureau imputes data for localities that fail to submit monthly reports on time. An asterisk in the Census column of data appearing in the Municipal Summary Data table at the back of the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER indicates those towns with imputed data. The Census Bureau bases these imputations on historic trends. The DCA series shows information for only those towns that submitted monthly reports. If a municipality failed to submit a monthly report on time, "No report" appears in the appropriate columns in the Municipal Summary Data table.

Additional Terms

A number of other terms appear in the tables throughout the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER. Exhibit A on page 2 defines additional construction permit and certificate terms.

Exhibit A

The following groups refer to industrial, commercial, and other nonresidential structures.

Exhibit C

Residential Structures (U.S. Census Bureau Definitions)

Tables 4, 5, and 6 show authorized housing units based on the structure types defined below by the U.S. Census Bureau. The number of units shown in these tables refers to those authorized by building permits issued for new construction only.

Single-Family Houses	Include all detached one-family houses and all attached one-family houses separated by a wall that extends from ground to roof with no common heating system or inter-structural public utilities. Include prefabricated, sectionalized, panelized, and modular homes that are manufactured partially off site, but are transported and assembled at the construction site.
Two-Family Buildings	Include all buildings with two housing units that may be above one another or side by side. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.
Three- and Four-Family Buildings	Include all buildings with three or four housing units. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.
Five-or-More-Family Buildings	Include all buildings with five or more housing units. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.

NOTE:

Users of the monthly CONSTRUCTION REPORTER may notice that year-to-date figures in a particular issue may not be obtained by merely summing the monthly totals that appear in previous issues. This is because the construction data compiled by the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs are continuously updated. Monthly construction reports submitted too late to make the January issue of the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER, for example, are included in the year-to-date totals that appear in the February issue.
