

ATLANTIC CITY

Building A Foundation For A Shared Prosperity

IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

Prepared By:

James E. Johnson – Special Counsel to Governor Murphy

Michael Epps – Executive Director of ACIPO

Rosa Farias – Deputy Executive Director of ACIPO

ATLANTIC CITY: BUILDING A FOUNDATION FOR SHARED PROSPERITY

IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

SUMMARY

This Implementation Plan, one of the first major products of the Atlantic City Initiatives Project Office, represents the next step of progress for Atlantic City. It will serve as a baseline for monitoring the performance of all ongoing projects in terms of their scope within the first year of operations, establish the schedule and state the overall goals for the next phase of work. While based on the Transition Report, this first Implementation Plan also reflects: the continued input of the citizens and other stakeholders within the city, including input from the citizens who shared their perspectives in a three-hour town hall held on January 30, 2019; experts from across the country; and technical assistance and other support provided by state agencies. The Implementation Plan calls for action across many fronts, including lines of work identified in the Transition Report.

FORWARD BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR SHEILA Y. OLIVER

This implementation plan represents the next phase in our work to build a strong, broad and durable foundation for shared prosperity in Atlantic City.

On September 20, 2018, the Governor and I released the transition report, Atlantic City: Building A Foundation For A Shared Prosperity. That report outlined key areas for action and made recommendations for critical steps as we worked with the community and with industry to move the city forward. A strategy without deadlines, deliverables and key areas of responsibility can lose focus and run the risks of poor execution. An implementation plan that lacks community input runs the risks of becoming unsustainable.

The team of the Special Counsel to the Governor and the new Atlantic City Initiatives Project Office has given us a great basis to be confident that the community has been heard and that key stakeholders have had ample opportunity to provide input into this plan. In doing so, they have refined and built upon the recommendations in the Transition Report. Notably, they have added a line of work devoted to taking advantage of a variety of public and private financing tools to fuel the work going forward and they have set priorities as to what needs to be accomplished by when to ensure a steady march forward.

I believe this plan will have impact because our stakeholders and anchor institutions have agreed to be mutually accountable as we move forward. That alignment will ensure that the work gets done.

I look forward to continuing this important work. And I ask all to join us.

Sincerely,

Lieutenant Governor

INTRODUCTION

On September 20, 2018, Governor Phil Murphy and Lieutenant Governor Sheila Oliver released the Atlantic City: Building A Foundation for A Shared Prosperity report. That report, often called the Transition Report, was the result of months of work by a small review team, led by James E. Johnson, Special Counsel to the Governor, and Braxton Plummer, Senior Advisor to the Commissioner of the Department of Community Affairs. The Transition Report identified the considerable strengths and promises of Atlantic City and probed the challenges facing the city. Most importantly, the Transition Report offered a prescription for building on those strengths and overcoming the challenges which led to seven pillars for action and a structure for executing action plans at both the State and Municipal level.

In the Transition Report, the Review Team noted that Atlantic City would have to do many things well, though not all at the same time. After the Transition Report was released, the State formed two bodies to align and coordinate both further analysis and preliminary implementation steps. At the local level, the State and municipal partners formed the Atlantic City Executive Council, which consists of anchor institutions and organizations across the city. In Trenton, the Governor ordered the creation of a state-wide Coordinating Council, an interagency body designed to facilitate support for the city. Within the Department of Community Affairs, the Governor authorized the creation of a project office, now called the Atlantic City Initiatives Project Office (ACIPO), to execute a program of action, reform and development based on the Transition Report. The areas identified below outline the major areas in which this document is structured, and against which deliverables will be evaluated.

1. GOVERNMENT EFFECTIVENESS & ACCOUNTABILITY

Rebuilding the fundamentals by reorienting municipal government services, including a special focus on developing and implementing a vision that improves the delivery of services to its citizens.

2. LAND USE DEVELOPMENT

Developing a master plan that capitalizes on the many strengths of Atlantic City including its developing of new business sectors. By improving neighborhoods and increasing property values, a new vision that invigorates the cityscape, eliminates blight and provides for a wide range of productive uses for real property will be implemented.

3. ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Strengthening existing businesses and identifying new opportunities to diversify the local economy.

4. WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT & JOB CREATION

Design strategies and develop partnerships to recruit, train, place and retain Atlantic City residents which would lead them towards a positive career path resulting in personal and professional growth.

5. PUBLIC HEALTH

Addressing critical public health challenges including a special focus on factors of morbidity, addiction and food security.

6. PUBLIC SAFETY

Building on relationships and efforts to ensure law enforcement is both effective and trusted by the community.

7. YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Supporting our youth by developing career and education pathways to success.

8. CIVIC & CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Building on Atlantic City's social capital through the engagement of our communities and promotion of the arts, enhanced opportunities to participate in governance and expanded outlets for community-based entertainment.

9. PUBLIC FINANCE

Capitalizing upon existing tools to finance local development initiatives and identifying new financing options, including funding from non-profits, philanthropies and impact investors.

The Project Office and the Executive Council have identified the following initiatives as the critical areas for building a sustainable path forward for Atlantic City. The Implementation Plan only identifies action to be undertaken as priorities during the next 12 months (from January 2019 through December 2019). This report is structured in two sections. The first section will outline the overall description of strategic recommendations. It will provide a brief justification for why the topic is important to the outcomes for Atlantic City and its residents, the resources needed both fiscally and leveraged resources, suggest partners that may be able to contribute to those needs going forward, and finally identify legislative opportunities. The second section will outline the breakdown of strategic recommendations and propose them in a logic model format which include targeted timeframes for completion in year one.

SECTION ONE: STRATEGIC RECOMMENDATIONS

1.) GOVERNMENT EFFECTIVENESS & ACCOUNTABILITY

Rebuilding The Fundamentals By Reorienting Municipal Government Services, Including A Special Focus On Developing And Implementing A Vision That Improves The Delivery Of Services To Its Citizens.

Justification

City of Atlantic City employees are a dedicated group of individuals who have expressed desire to improve upon the delivery of services consistent with the expectations of the residents of Atlantic City. By improving municipal capacity, it will better serve current residents and attract new residents and businesses to the city. By building the appropriate infrastructure to promote work effectiveness and efficiency from all levels of government, Atlantic City will dramatically turn the tide setting the standard as the face of urban centers in New Jersey.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – Most of the resources required to implement the proposed changes will require a re-investment by the municipality and key stakeholders through the identification of new funding options and restructuring of current government. This will include re-evaluating current government structures to ensure the necessary job functions are being executed.

Execution

- The municipal departments have each identified key priorities within their service area to improve the quality and method of service delivery. The goal is to improve the service for all citizens and visitors.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

PLANNING & DEVELOPMENT

Justification

A strong Planning and Development program is one of the hallmarks of a successful urban revitalization effort. With areas in need of redevelopment in major portions of the city, the creation of four opportunity zones and renewed interest in investing in Atlantic City, a nimble and innovative Department of Planning and Development is critical to realizing a new, inclusive and transformative path forward for the City. The task requires an approach to planning that is tailored to Atlantic City's challenges and demonstrates a willingness to learn lessons from other cities with similar challenges.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal - These expenses will be incurred by the municipality. This plan envisions 6 additional FTE positions with an impact of roughly $400,000. This department will also require technical support provided by the Department of Community Affairs.

Execution

- The Director of Planning and Development will assess and reorganize her department to better meet the demands of the city. Emphasis will be placed on instituting elements of process change including streamlining and dedicating attention to economic development efforts.

Legislative Action (if any)

- Local ordinance to provide for redevelopment opportunities and adjust of fee amounts.
- Possible State legislation for 1st time homeownership program between casino owners and HMFA/DCA.

TAX ASSESSMENT

Justification

The Tax Assessor determines and maintains the ratable base of the municipality, which is instrumental in shaping the overall tax rate for the City. The City's ratable base has a direct impact on the Atlantic County budget and tax rate. Moreover, the Atlantic City ratable base is the largest in Atlantic County and continues to be one of the economic drivers of the region.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – These expenses will be incurred by the municipality. This plan envisions 3 additional FTE positions with an impact of roughly $150,000.

Execution

- The Tax Assessment process will be reinforced by adding staff to provide more immediate time and attention to the assessment process. The City of Atlantic City will undergo a revaluation over the next year.

Legislative Action (if applicable)

- None

2.) LAND USE AND DEVELOPMENT

Developing A Master Plan That Capitalizes On The Many Strengths Of Atlantic City Including Its Developing Of New Business Sectors. By Improving Neighborhoods And Increasing Property Values, A New A Vision That Invigorates The Cityscape, Eliminates Blight And Provides For A Wide Range Of Productive Uses For Real Property Will Be Implemented.

Justification

In order to stabilize communities and increase the property ratable base, neighborhoods must be revitalized, and efforts must be made to reduce the number of vacant lots and abandoned properties in order to spur redevelopment. In addition, Atlantic City must create an effective and efficient framework that is not cumbersome to those entities seeking to redevelop in the city. There must also be a concerted effort to develop attractive housing options to increase the population of Atlantic City.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – There will be some expenses incurred by the municipality, but the bulk of these expenses will be shared amongst the departments, partners and collaborations.

Execution

- The development of a comprehensive plan that considers the input of the neighborhood civic associations and its residents. This plan should provide for a diverse set of experiences throughout the city, and provide an opportunity for small business development. By doing this, it will create a sense of place and neighborhood pride throughout the city. Development of a comprehensive plan which considers the desires of the various neighborhood civic associations and residents and provides for a diverse set of experiences throughout the city, provides an opportunity for small business development and creates a sense of place and neighborhood pride throughout the city.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

3.) ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Strengthening Existing Businesses And Identifying New Opportunities To Diversify The Local Economy.

Justification

Legacy cities that have shown the most progress have strengthened core industries and diversified their economic base. Atlantic City’s gaming industry has stabilized since the loss of five casinos between 2013 and the end of 2016. Nevertheless, competition from other states has challenged the region’s growth. Atlantic City stands to enhance its economic footing by broadening its economic base and capitalizing on its assets such as the FAA Tech Center which could increase the number of higher paying jobs regionally.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – There will be some expenses incurred by the municipality, but the bulk of these expenses will be shared amongst the departments, partners and collaborations.

Execution

- A unified message will be created to attract delivery businesses to Greater Atlantic City region as to avoid single dependency on any one industry. Ancillary business development should be spurred in partnership with Atlantic County to identify synergies and funding opportunities especially in the Eds and Meds complexes.

Legislative Action (if any)

- Local and State legislation petitioning and adding Atlantic City as an Urban Enterprise Zone.

4.) WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT & JOB CREATION

Design Strategies And Develop Partnerships To Recruit, Train, Place And Retain Atlantic City Residents Which Would Lead Them Towards A Positive Career Path Resulting In Personal And Professional Growth.

Justification

Thriving communities channel energy from citizens fully employed in the central economic enterprises of their region. Employment efforts are most successful when the initiatives match the workforce with the goals of local businesses. Development initiatives that fail to target jobs with high wage and growth potential are not likely to yield the types of jobs that will lift people out of poverty. Atlantic City can overcome persistent poverty if it increases the number of careers with high income potential and successfully place its citizens in those jobs.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – It is recommended that the Jobs Council work with local institutions of higher education to locate the means to sponsor a paid position that would be solely tasked with coordinating jobs as part of a one-stop hub at any one of the Atlantic City campuses.

Execution

- The development and delivery of job training around the businesses and services which are likely to be hiring job ready individuals.
- Create pathways to careers by offering courses and training in fields with long term employability by promoting high school to Associate degree to Bachelor degree gateways to success programs.

- Create a coalition of key stakeholders with a common purpose to train, place, and retain individuals into jobs with a positive career path.
- Create a jobs bank for the major marketplaces that would match applicants to employers who are in need.
- Form a collaboration of employers, the Workforce Improvement Board (WIB), Atlantic Cape, Stockton, and the Greater Atlantic City Chamber to identify and provide workforce training to the underserved populations of Atlantic City, including ex-offenders and non-English speaking populations. At the One Stop hub, create apprenticeship programs and other opportunities that provide real pathways to sustainable careers.
- Capitalize on the new college support program introduced by the Murphy administration to non-traditional students as a means to ensure that Atlantic City residents take advantage of current educational opportunities.

Legislative Action (if any)

- Multiple states have addressed pathways and skills development through apprenticeship legislation. New Jersey, through the Department of Labor, recently enacted several apprenticeship initiatives with funding allocations. Currently, there are several pieces of legislation in the Legislature pending the Governor's approval. We support these efforts and will work with local officials to push for their enactment.

5.) PUBLIC HEALTH

Addressing Critical Public Health Challenges Including A Special Focus On Factors Of Morbidity, Addiction And Food Security.

Justification

A vibrant community ensures the wellness of its residents and provides access to high quality health care. To achieve this goal, Atlantic City must address three areas where residents are facing severe public health challenges: infant mortality and maternal health; obesity; and substance use disorder. A child born to an Atlantic City family is nearly twice as likely as a child born in Newark to die before her first birthday. Atlantic City children suffer from the state's highest exposures to lead and the death rates of all Atlantic City residents from cancer, diabetes, heart disease, and kidney disease are among the worst in the State. To complicate matters further, Atlantic City handles health care for many citizens who live outside the City. It operates South Jersey's only needle exchange and, as a result, receives many individuals with opioid use disorder. Their numbers have increased dramatically since the beginning of the opioid crisis; they add a further strain to both public health and law enforcement functions in the City. Much of the success of ensuring that the City makes progress in all neighborhoods requires addressing these severe public health concerns. This effort starts with a localized assessment of how needs are currently being met.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal - Some of the programs aimed at education can benefit from available funding by way of application to State and Federal grant programs.
- Participation and support from key stakeholders such as AtlantiCare will be required to include access initiatives, policy and system changes, and create an environment in which health can thrive.

Execution

- Development and delivery of programs which educate, and drive services aimed at reducing the underlying decisions which lead to the key health concerns of infant mortality and maternal health, obesity and dependency. This will set the stage for immediate and ongoing success to improve the health and wellbeing of Atlantic City residents.

- This will include the development of a detailed plan, outlining opportunities to advance knowledge, health behaviors, and also create the environment that will improve and sustain health. This plan should be developed for each identified opportunity with actionable measures clearly outlined to ensure success.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

6.) PUBLIC SAFETY

Building On Relationships And Efforts To Ensure Law Enforcement Is Both Effective And Trusted By The Community.

Justification

A vibrant community is a safe community. A broadly successful resort town provides an environment in which visitors feel safe to explore. Atlantic City has made progress reducing crime. Both violent crime is down over the last two years by more than 11 percent and property crime is down by more than 4 percent. The Atlantic City Police Department (ACPD) has put in place a variety of mechanisms to be more proactive in combating crime through community engagement, the use of technology, predictive analytics and real time policing.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – Enhancing community policing will depend on an increase in personnel needed to support a more robust community policing effort. CRDA will fund a community policing initiative by the AC Police department totaling $7.5 million ($1.5 million for 5 years) to allow them to hire 15 FTE positions to replace veteran officers, who will be assigned to the city’s six wards in pairs, along with three officers who will be assigned to addressing vagrancy and homelessness in the Tourism District.

Execution

- Reorganization within the police department and development of new patrol aimed at building trust and confidence in public safety. Retooling training and awareness within the ranks of the public safety departments.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

7.) YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Supporting Our Youth By Developing Career And Education Pathways To Success.

Justification

The most effective youth development strategies plan for future generations by cultivating leaders and address current issues facing youth. There remains much potential in the Greater Atlantic City region that can only be realized if the children are given broader opportunities. An effort must be made to close an opportunity deficit which currently exists. Atlantic City youth currently desire more options for after school activities as well as activities throughout the summer. In a recent survey, the students reported the need for more constructive ways to spend their time, a better sense of their own strength and a strong sense of community support.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – There will be some expenses incurred by the municipality. Additional funding for afterschool programs will be sought from the State, CRDA and other corporate partners.

Execution

- Develop effective and desired after-school programming aimed at preparing youth for career opportunities.
- Create a recreation masterplan that will assess current community assets and seek to expand opportunities for youth activities throughout the city.

- Expose the youth to career opportunities through the promotion of internships and apprenticeships programs.
- Provide mentoring and support systems to reinforce career goals.
- Partners with key stakeholders such as Stockton University to access the scalability of three after-school homework completion programs.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

8.) CIVIC & CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Building On Atlantic City’s Social Capital Through The Engagement Of Our Communities And Promotion Of The Arts, Create Enhanced Opportunities To Participate In Governance And Expanded Outlets For Community-Based Entertainment.

Justification

Community engagement is a core element of legacy city revitalization. It also goes beyond engagement with the challenges of government. It includes the creation of communal art and the enjoyment of community celebrations. Atlantic City is fortunate to have strong neighborhood civic associations and arts organizations which bring energy to community life. These organizations raise neighborhood concerns, organize community events and play leading roles in neighborhood improvement projects. Citizen’s campaigns provide tools for no-blame problem-solving that has been implemented in other cities throughout the New Jersey. The results seen in these communities have led to changes in local ordinances, community lead forums and political debate.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – Civic organizations will need to avail themselves to grant funding options to prepare neighborhood improvement plans.

- Civic associations will also need funding to plan and execute community events through public and private partnerships. CRDA has earmarked some fund availability to support programming during the summer months.

Execution

- Through the network of Civic Organizations, a process of building neighborhood pride and a sense of place will be accomplished. Cultural events throughout the city, supported by all residents will re-establish a sense of pride in the city. Effectively incorporating the diverse cultures, the unique food options, revisiting old traditions and establishing new ones will lead to a greater sense of joy.

Legislative Action (if any)

- None

9.) PUBLIC FINANCE

Capitalizing Upon Existing Tools To Finance Local Development Initiatives And Identifying New Financing Options, Including Funding From Non-Profits, Philanthropists And Impact Investors.

Justification

There is a need to identify partnerships between local, State and Federal funding opportunities to support various projects including neighborhood development plans, economic development, job readiness, workforce development and housing.

Resources Needed

- Fiscal – There will be some expenses incurred by the municipality, but the bulk of these expenses will be shared amongst the departments, partners and collaborations.

Execution

- Creating a clearing house for all information concerning funding sources and opportunities so that the various organizations may be accurately educated on processes and are able to avail themselves to heretofore untapped resources.

- Assess current tax incentives offered at the local, state and federal level to ensure Atlantic City is taking advantage of existing programs. This will include programs such as Opportunity Zones, PILOT process and redevelopment incentives.

Legislative Action (if any)

- Possible review of local and State incentive programs.
