Overview

8-29-2011

Regional Diagnostic and Treatment Centers (RDTCs) were established to provide services to children and families where abuse or neglect has been identified. The RDTCs offer a wide-range of services, from medical evaluation to therapeutic intervention. Each RDTC is equipped with a staff of specialists trained in the area of child-on-child sexual abuse and child-on-child sexual activity.

Child-on-child sexual abuse cases require a mandatory referral to an RDTC by the Worker. Although referrals to RDTCs are not mandatory in a child-on-child sexual activity case, Workers shall encourage families to utilize these services.
