ORGANIZATION OF THE SURVEY

Since its establishment on November 27, 1936, the New Jersey Geodetic Control Survey has been engaged in the establishment of horizontal and vertical control points throughout New Jersey.

This Survey was begun as a Civil Works Administration Project under the direction of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. On March 15, 1934 the survey was placed under the direction of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and was sponsored by the Department of Conservation and Development. On November 14, 1935, the Project was placed under the jurisdiction of the Works Progress Administration, remaining under the sponsorship of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Development.

METHOD OF SURVEYING

The elevations shown in this publication were obtained by leveling with the ordinary type of engineers' levels. Each section of the work was run in both directions. The field closure on each sectional loop was better than .03 foot times the square root of the number of miles in the section. The resulting differences of elevation between the forward and backward runs were averaged. Readings were made to the nearest thousandths of a foot, and the rods used were calibrated at regular intervals. The resulting closures throughout the net were very small. All available connections were made with the first and second order level lines of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and the entire net was balanced simultaneously by the least square method, holding fixed the elevations of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

A study was made of the existing bench marks established by the New Jersey Geological Survey, and frequent connections were made with these benches. The elevations of these benches are given in this bulletin according to the New Jersey Geodetic Control Survey Net.

As the bench marks of the New Jersey Geological Survey have been used for many years, it is inevitable that many subsidiary bench marks have been established from them by municipalities, counties and others. For this reason these elevations should not be discarded, and an effort has been made to compute a correction which should be applied to such benches in various localities by averaging the corrections necessary for New Jersey Geological Survey bench marks tested.

For example: A bench mark originating from New Jersey Geological benches in Princeton requires a correction of +0.27 foot, that is: old elevation 121.42 foot +0.27 = precise elevation of 121.69 feet.

DATUM USED

There has been some confusion as to the datum known as Mean Sea Level, and the Datum known as Mean Sea Level at Sandy Hook. It will be noted that the two are practically identical. Mean Sea Level was obtained by a general adjustment of the entire level net of the United States established by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. All tide stations established by this organization on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts including that at Sandy Hook were held fixed, and the net adjusted accordingly. The Tidal Bench at Sandy Hook, and the Tidal Bench at Atlantic City chiefly affect elevations in New Jersey. All elevations given in this Bulletin are based on Mean Sea Level as defined above.

Mean Sea Level at Sandy Hook is based only on the Tidal Bench at Sandy Hook.

USE OF THIS BULLETIN

In this bulletin the Bench Marks have been grouped in "Runs". Each run has a distinguishing name, composed of the first three letters of the name of the county in which the major... portion of the run lies, and also a further distinguishing letter. Within the runs the benches are arranged in geographical sequence in the order in which they would be found progressing continuously along the run from start to finish.

In order to find the bench marks existing in a certain locality, it is necessary to refer to the map in the frontispiece. On this map are shown the locality and names of the various runs. It will be noted that included in this bulletin are also elevations of first and second order bench marks established by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey within the area of the net.
