

The Jack Zaifman Humanitarian Award

Jack Zaifman Humanitarian Award:

This award is presented to one (1) or two (2) K-12 private, public or parochial educator in either Burlington, Somerset or Mercer County that has demonstrated for at least three (3) years excellent instruction in the field of Holocaust/genocide and/or prejudice reduction education and has achieved an outstanding accomplishment with students, staff and/or community in that field.

Jack Zaifman was a survivor of the Holocaust and had for many years spoken to hundreds of students and community groups to tell of his experiences during WWII before passing away in 2016. The uniqueness of Jack was that he always spoke with the students about the importance of caring for others and not of the tragedies he lived through. He was a true humanitarian as demonstrated by his caring, warmth, understanding and dignity.

His family is sponsoring the program by presenting the nominee with a certificate, a financial award to be used toward furthering the promotion of tolerance and/or Holocaust education, and a classroom set of Jack's autobiography, "Tailor Made For Life: A Story of Survival During the Nazi Holocaust".

Awardees and those nominating the final choice(s) will be notified by the Commission.
