

Rising Together: Black Sororities in Pursuit of Leadership and Service

Monday, March 29, 2021, from 1:00 - 2:00 p.m.

Moderated by NJ Secretary of State Tahesha Way

Every March we take time to consider the many roles that women play in our public and private lives. In 2021, we will explore how the creation of organizations and networks of women, in particular Black sororities, has succeeded in affecting change in the lives of individuals and communities at the local, national, and international levels. This theme will be explored in a special panel discussion offered in honor of Women's History Month.
