School Employees Health Benefits Program
Rate Reductions and Premium Contribution “Holiday” for Plan Year 2022
Frequently Asked Questions

Q. What is being done?

A. The New Jersey Department of the Treasury announced sizable rate reductions and a premium contribution “holiday” for employers and members of New Jersey School Employees Health Benefits Program (SEHBP). To be eligible, school districts must have been participating in the SEHBP on or before July 1, 2021 and must continue participation in February, 2022.

Q. Q. What rate reductions will be seen?

A. The 2022 premium for the New Jersey Educators Health Plan (NJEHP) is projected to be 11 percent lower than the 2022 premium for the NJ DIRECT10 plan. The premiums for legacy plans NJ DIRECT10 and NJ DIRECT15 are also projected to decrease by 1.6 percent next year.

Q. When will I see the rate reductions?

A. SEHBP rate reductions will apply beginning with the employer health benefits billing statement for January 2022.

Q. When is the premium “holiday”?

A. The SEHBP Commission voted on August 5, 2021, to approve a contribution “holiday” in February 2022 for school districts participating in the SEHBP on or before July 1, 2021. The January 2022 billing should be paid as usual. Eligible employers will receive a health benefits billing statement reflecting a full credit for February 2022. A list of eligible employers is attached. Regular payments resume for the billing in March 2022 and after.

Q. How will this benefit employees?

A. P.L. 2021, c. 163, provides that when an employer does not have to pay an SEHBP premium or periodic charge, an employee enrolled in the SEHBP is also not required to make the employee’s contribution toward that premium or periodic charge.
